DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after allowance or after an Office action under Ex Parte Quayle, 25 USPQ 74, 453 O.G. 213 (Comm'r Pat. 1935). Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, prosecution in this application has been reopened pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 07/05/2007 has been entered.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-35 and 37-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Salbeck et al (6,509,110) or Beckker et al (6,605,693) or Hoffmeister et al, they are of record on 1449.

Salbeck discloses triptycene derivatives and their use for opto-electronic applications, such as electroluminescent materials (see Abstract) in that the triptycene derivatives have been disclosed at cols. 3-12, and the synthesis to form said products have been disclosed in the Examples and in the claims, as required in claims 31-35 and 37-47.

Becker discloses conjugated polymers containing triptycene units in the form of copolymers which comprising two or more different units, containing a triptycenylen radical or an arylene, heteroarylene, vinylene and ethynylene radical, and employed as electroluminescent materials (see Abstract; cols 2-5) and the synthesis to form said products have been disclosed at col. 5, line 26 et seq., in the Examples and in the claims.

Hoffmeister discloses that bifunctional, bridgehead substituted triptycenes were synthesized and used to form a series of triptycene polymers, including polyesters, polyamides, polyurethanes, and a polyoxadiazole by the benzyne-anthracene route and a wide variety of polymer products prepared from them (see Table I, pages 60-72).

The disclosures of the references differ from the instant claims in that they neither disclose the claimed characteristics in claims 1-2 nor the use of a chromophore in claimed device.

However, the references do disclose the required reactants under cited conditions to form the same or similar products. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select reactants under conditions from the references within the limitations of the instant claims to get the claimed products in the absence of a showing of unexpected results derived from said selection.
